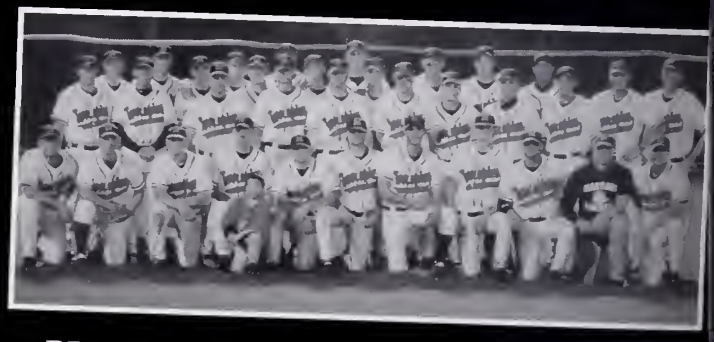
Coach Terry Rupp With Team USA

In the offseason, Head Coach Terry Rupp served as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp toured with the squad on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands and the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship.

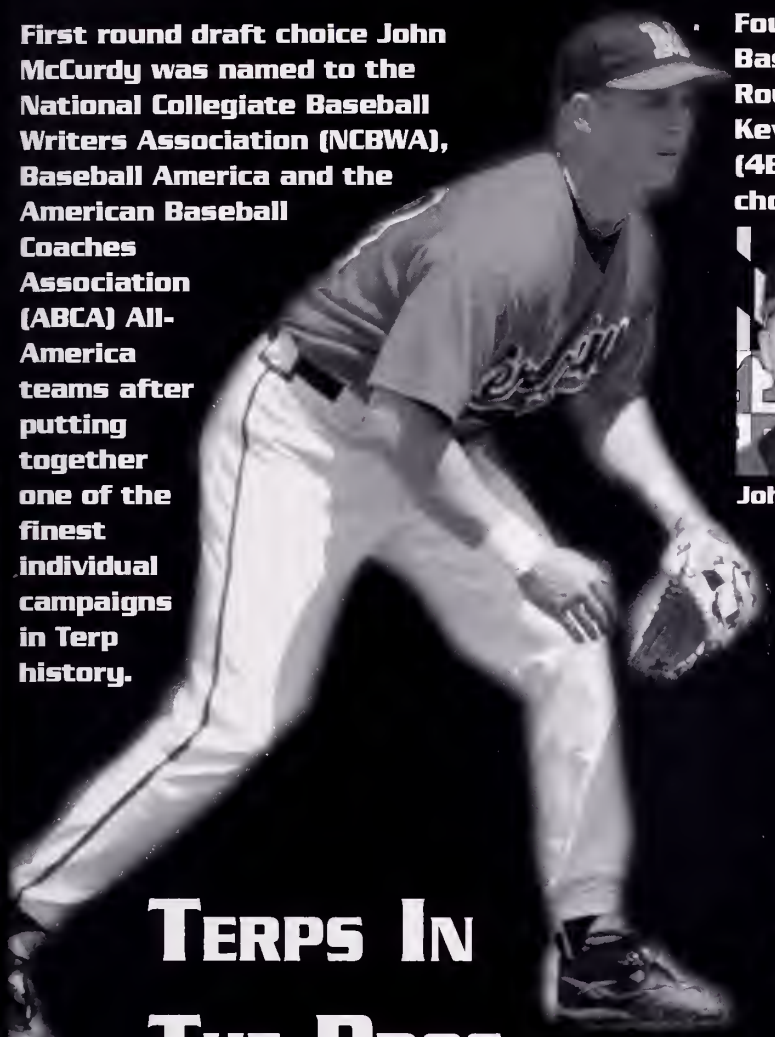
The 2002 Terrapins set a new school record for overall victories with 34, including a record 25 victories at the friendly confines of Shipley Field.



2002 was a record year for the Terps: at the plate, the 2002 Terps set team records for runs scored (501), hits (641), doubles (47) and RBI (446), and the pitching staff set new marks for strikeouts (451) and saves (10).

Terps' Pro Connection

First round draft choice John McCurdy was named to the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association (NCBWA), Baseball America and the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) All-America teams after putting together one of the finest individual campaigns in Terp history.



Four Terrapins were selected in the 2002 Major League Baseball First Year Player Draft: John McCurdy (First Round, Oakland), Matt Swope (24th Round, Montreal), Kevin McDonald (39th Round, Detroit) and Ken Beck (48th Round, Montreal). It was the most players chosen in the draft for the Terps in over 12 years.

2003 Season Outlook

The Maryland baseball squad is ready for the next step.

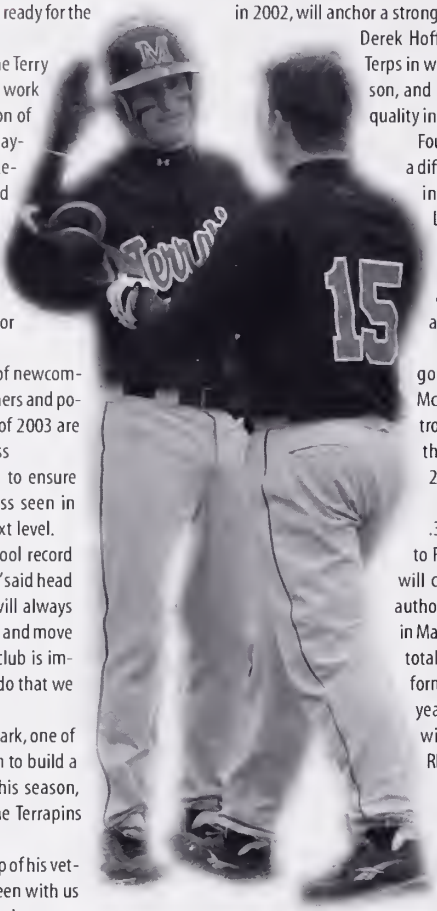
In only the second season of the Terry Rupp era at Maryland in 2002, the hard work of the coaching staff and the dedication of a mixed group of new and seasoned players paid dividends, as the Terrapins demolished long standing records and made strides in every facet of the game. New marks were set at the plate and on the pitcher's mound, as the squad posted a school-record 34 victories and saw four players selected in the Major League draft.

One year later, a talented crop of newcomers joins a core group of returning pitchers and position players. However, the Terrapins of 2003 are not satisfied with last season's progress – further steps must be taken to ensure that this team continues the progress seen in 2002, and takes that success to the next level.

"Last season we broke the school record for wins, which was a great milestone," said head coach Terry Rupp. "Our goal is, and will always be, to get into the regional tournament and move on from there. The next step for this club is improved play in the ACC, and when we do that we will meet our goals."

Since Rupp's arrival in College Park, one of the coaching staff's missions has been to build a solid and consistent pitching staff. This season, with the entire rotation returning, the Terrapins have achieved just that.

"The pieces are there," said Rupp of his veteran hurlers. "Our pitching staff has been with us for three years, and a lot of those guys have matured. We're expecting them to have big years. They've gone through the wars and experienced ACC baseball."



Kyle George & Jason Maxey

Two of the Terrapins' workhorses from 2002, Jared Stuart and Todd Ainsworth, return as the senior leaders in the rotation. The upperclass tandem combined for 26 starts and 120 strikeouts a season ago, and should be even stronger in 2003 with Ainsworth's complete recovery from Tommy John surgery in 2000.

Sophomores Chris Clem and Sean Kane each logged significant innings against ACC opponents as rookies in 2002, and after tremendous fall showings, should be key components of the Terps' 2003 rotation. Both earned victories in Maryland's sweep of ACC opponent NC State a season ago, marking the Terps' first series shutout over a league rival since 1994.

Left-handed second-year hurler Chris Bowen was one of the Terps' fall surprises and could make his way into the rotation, and senior Brad Lyons, who posted a 2.97 ERA in 20 appearances out of the Terrapins' bullpen in 2002, should also work his way into the rotation. Gardner-Webb transfer Justin Hulse and heralded recruits Jeremy Hunt and Southern Maryland's own Seth Overbey will factor in as well.

"We may see some of our new pitchers assume weekday or spot-starting roles," said Rupp. "Those guys have shown that they have the ability to pitch, and now they just need to show the confidence to do it at this level."

Senior Matt Basinger, who posted a 5-1 record as a reliever in 2002, will anchor a strong corps of bullpen hurlers for the Terps. Derek Hoffman collected four victories for the Terps in what was mostly a reserve role last season, and southpaw Josh Andrews will provide quality innings out of the bullpen if not starting.

Four-year stalwart Steve Schmoll assumes a different role for the Terrapins as a senior, inheriting closing duties from Major League draft choice Ken Beck. Schmoll's excellent fastball and slider, plus his ability to throw from different arm angles, gives him the makings of a "classic closer" according to Rupp.

Behind the plate, the Terrapins say goodbye to longtime catcher Kevin McDonald, who was a selection of the Detroit Tigers in the 2002 draft. But Rupp has the luxury of three talented options in 2003.

Sophomore Jason Maxey, who hit .328 and belted 17 home runs en route to Freshman All-America honors in 2002, will catch and also play first base. Maxey authored one of the finest freshman seasons in Maryland history in 2002, and his long ball total was the fifth-best single-season performance ever by a Terrapin, regardless of year. He finished 2002 in the ACC's top 10 with a .694 slugging percentage and 60 RBI.

Anthony Buffone, whose .362 batting average as a sophomore is tops among returning players, will share backstop duties when not playing at either of the corners. Buffone was an all-star over the summer in the Coastal Plains League, where he excelled and gained wood bat experience.

Added to the mix is Bobby Ryan, who transferred to Maryland from Radford and whose ability to hit from both sides of the plate will be a tremendous asset. He hit at a .298 clip a season ago as a freshman for the Highlanders.

Senior Kyle George captains what will be a solid infield for the Terrapins in 2003. George's 134 assists in 2002 were complemented by a late-season 11-game hit streak, and his knowledge of the game should serve well in an infield that will be a mix of newcomers and veterans.

George's partner in the middle infield will be Joe Sargent, who got off to a hot start as a freshman before a broken finger slowed his progress. Buffone and freshman Mike Costantino, a two-time all-state selection from Massachusetts and a 2002 draft choice of the Minnesota Twins, will see action at third base. Maxey, Buffone and senior Ray Gemmill should lock down the first base position. Newcomer Hunt can also play first when not on the mound for the Terps.

"In the infield we have a good mix of newcomers and veteran guys," said Rupp. "The veteran guys have taken the younger guys in and taught them what we expect and how to play the game, especially defensively. We have some quality guys on this team that can do a lot of different things – but we have to do it as a team if we are to have success."

Rupp can look to several players when putting together an experienced outfield unit. Senior leadoff man Daryl Whitmer, a former star for the Terrapins on the gridiron, has shown improvement in all areas in his first full season of baseball. Whitmer can play all three outfield positions, and his abilities to hit for power, bunt or steal bases will make him key for the Terps at the plate.

Sophomore center fielder Justin Maxwell, one of the Terrapins' best overall athletes, will once again roam the outfield grass. Maxwell, like Buffone, benefited from summer wood bat experience in the Coastal Plains League.

Will Frazier, a Freshman All-America selection from 2002, put in a solid effort over the summer in the Great Lakes League and honed his defensive skills. His 14 doubles and nine homers were third on the squad in 2002.

Redshirt freshman Brian Jarosinski and sophomore Joe Natale will also see time in the Terp outfield, as will sophomore transfer Adam Royster. Jarosinski is an athletic, defensively sound player, while Natale displayed his offensive prowess during the fall season. Royster comes to Maryland from Brown University, where he hit .275 as a freshman.

The Terrapins will play a formidable schedule in 2003, with 28 contests scheduled against teams which appeared in last season's NCAA tournament. Eighteen of the Terps' games will be against squads ranked in the Baseball America Preseason top 20. The always-competitive Atlantic Coast Conference schedule features an away series with preseason No. 1 Georgia Tech (March 21-23), and home series with No. 4 Florida State (May 7-10), No. 7 Wake Forest (March 14-16) and No. 22 North Carolina (April 11-13). The Terps open the season against Kentucky on Feb. 14 at the News-Journal First Pitch Invitational, hosted by No. 18 Stetson University.

"We have to be ready to play every day," said Rupp. "This is our third season as a coaching staff, and the players understand our philosophy. We have to outwork all of the other teams, and eliminate our mistakes – it's the only way for us to reach our goals. We can only be the best team if we all pull together."

Terry Rupp

Head Coach
Third season at Maryland
Eighth season overall
Tampa '88

Now in the third season of the Terry Rupp era of Maryland baseball, it is clear the winds of change are sweeping through College Park. After an inaugural season in 2001 adjusting to life in the ACC, Rupp and his coaching staff launched a Terrapin turnaround in 2002 – shattering records on the field, making a presence on the international stage, and having the most Maryland baseball players drafted in more than 12 years.

In only the second season under Rupp's tutelage, the 2002 Terrapins posted the first 30-win season in Maryland history. Rupp's philosophy of discipline and hard work has begun to pay obvious dividends for the Terrapins, as the team not only set a new school mark with 34 victories last season, but also recorded program bests in runs scored (501), hits (641), doubles (147), and RBI (446) on the offensive side. In addition, the Terp pitching staff combined for school records in strikeouts (451) and saves (10).

The Terrapins' success under Rupp did not go unnoticed by professional scouts, as four Maryland players were selected in the amateur draft by Major League teams. Infielder John McCurdy, who notched a record-smashing breakout season and became Maryland's first All-American since Derek Hacopian in 1992, was taken as the 26th overall pick in the first round by the Oakland Athletics. In doing so, McCurdy became the third-ever Terp to be drafted in the opening round, and the first since the Minnesota Twins' Eric Milton in 1996.

Combining his years at Maryland with those coaching at his alma mater, 12 of Rupp's players have been selected in the past six amateur baseball drafts.

After a season of breakthroughs on the field with the Terps, Rupp took advantage of a unique experience and represented Maryland as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp helped guide the team on its summer Red, White and Blue Tour, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands. Rupp and Team USA went on to earn the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship in Messina, Italy.

It is clear that Rupp has the Terrapins pointed in the right direction to be a competitor in the region, and in the Atlantic Coast Conference. Rupp and his staff continue to attract talented recruits, and continue to strive toward the program's ultimate goals of being a perennial contender and consistently reaching the NCAA tournament.

Rupp, 36, led his alma mater Tampa to a 215-80 (.729) record in five years before coming to Maryland, including four 40-win seasons. Rupp guided the 1998 Spartans to the program's third national championship with an impressive 46-14 record. In 2000, his team was ranked No. 2 in the NCAA Division II poll heading into postseason play. His Tampa teams posted a 15-5 cumulative record against Division I opposition, including wins over Miami, Oral Roberts, Southwestern Louisiana and Army.

Rupp is a graduate of the University of Tampa where he earned a bachelor of science degree in marketing. At Tampa, he was a two-time All-South Regional baseball selection who played on teams that made a pair of national championship appearances. He was a teammate of St. Louis Cardinals' first baseman and four-time world champion Tino Martinez. He also was a two-time all-conference selection in basketball and a two-time conference all-academic selection, and was inducted into Tampa's Sports Hall of Fame in the Fall of 2002.

Before college, Rupp was a Parade and McDonald's All-American in basketball after helping lead Jesuit High of Tampa to the class 3A state championship. In 1989, he was voted into the Jesuit High School Athletic Hall of Fame.

Rupp was a 16th-round draft choice of the San Diego Padres in 1989 and played two seasons in the Padres' minor league organization. From 1993-95 he was a minor league coach for the short season Class "A" Oneonta Yankees of the New York-Penn League.

Rupp married his wife Jill in 1999, and they reside in University Park.

Gregg Kilby

Assistant Coach/
Recruiting Coordinator 42
Third season at Maryland
Southern Wesleyan '91

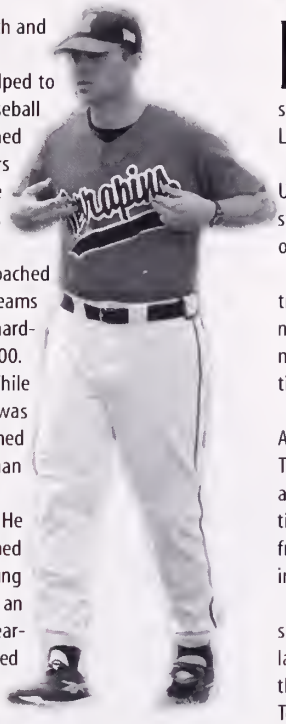
Gregg Kilby is in his third season as the assistant coach and recruiting coordinator for the Terps.

Since serving as recruiting coordinator, Kilby has helped to sign three of the most highly-touted classes in Terrapin baseball history. Two members of his first recruiting class were named Freshman All-Americans and five sought-after newcomers joined the Terrapins in the fall and will be key elements for the Terps in this and the coming seasons. Eight acclaimed recruits have committed to play for the Terrapins in 2004.

Before coming to Maryland for the 2001 season, Kilby coached Lynn University in its first four seasons of NCAA play. His Lynn teams recorded a 6-4-1 record versus Division I programs including a hard-fought 5-4 loss to defending national champion Miami in 2000.

Kilby led Lynn to a 103-108-1 record as head coach. While at Lynn, his team led the nation in double plays in 1999 and was consistently ranked in his four years. Kilby's teams also performed outside the lines as the program posted an average higher than 3.0 during his tenure.

Kilby is a 1991 graduate of Southern Wesleyan University. He lettered in three seasons at Southern Wesleyan and was named team co-captain and all-district in 1991. Kilby began his coaching career on the collegiate level in 1993 at Clemson University as an assistant for two seasons and made a College World Series appearance with the Tigers. Following his stay with the Tigers, Kilby served as the assistant at the University of Nevada for the 1996 season. He and his wife Annie were married in December 2000.



Ben Bachmann

Assistant Coach/
Pitching Coach 34
Third season at Maryland
Lewis '97

Ben Bachmann is in his third year as pitching coach for the Terrapins. In his second season with the Terps in 2002, Bachmann helped the staff establish school records for strikeouts (451) and saves (10). He also saw senior closer Ken Beck set a new single-season mark for saves with seven, and become one of four Terps taken in the 2002 Major League Baseball draft.

Bachmann was part of current Terrapin assistant coach Gregg Kilby's staff at Lynn Universty for two seasons. Bachmann led the Lynn pitching staff to a school record 379 strikeouts in 1999 and helped lower the team ERA by nearly four runs per game since taking over in 1998.

Bachmann is a 1997 graduate of Lewis University with a degree in business administration. He was a tri-captain during his senior season as a player for the Flyers. He also was named academic all-conference at Lewis and he earned his master's degree in business administration from Lynn in 2000.

Prior to Lewis, Bachmann was an All-American at Kankakee C.C. in Illinois. The Michigan City, Ind., native was a first-team all-region selection as a sophomore and his freshman ERA ranked third in the nation.

In addition to his responsibilities with the Maryland pitchers, Bachmann is the chief administrator of the Terry Rupp Terrapin Baseball Camp, held over the summer.

J.C. Nolan

Assistant Coach 24
Second Season
at Maryland
Tampa '00

J.C. Nolan is in his second season as a volunteer assistant coach on the Terrapin baseball coaching staff. A former standout at the University of Tampa, Nolan played three seasons and was coached by Rupp at Tampa.

A 2000 graduate with a degree in history from Tampa, Nolan was an assistant coach at his alma mater's junior varsity team for two years. He was an integral part of the Terry Rupp Baseball Camp over the summer of 2002, and was a head coach in the Florida Collegiate Instruction League the in the summer of 2001. Prior to his stint at Tampa, Nolan worked for the New York Yankees in Tampa, Fla. during the summers of 1998 and 1999 while also working as a hitting instructor at the Tampa Baseball Camps from 1998-1999.

An outstanding athlete, Nolan has trained as a boxer for the last two years and has worked out with former Olympian Jeff Lacy and current world champion Roy Jones Jr.

2002 Notebook

The 2002 baseball season will go into the record books as one of the most successful campaigns in school history. In only the second season of the Terry Rupp era at Maryland, the Terrapins made tremendous strides in every area – on the field, in the Major League Baseball Draft, and on the international stage.

John McCurdy

• With an overall record of 34-23, the 2002 Terrapins posted the first 30-win season in the history of Maryland baseball, setting a new record for team victories in a single-season.

• Maryland set a new record for victories at home, finishing the season 25-7 in games at historic Shipley Field.

• The Terp offense set several new team records, with team-high marks in runs scored (501), hits (641), doubles (147) and RBI (446).

• The Maryland pitching staff also set team records for strikeouts (451) and saves (10).

• The 2002 Terps' non-conference record was the third best in the entire NCAA.

• Four Terrapins were selected in the 2002 Major League Baseball First Year Player Draft: John McCurdy (First Round, Oakland Athletics), Matt Swope (24th Round, Montreal Expos), Kevin McDonald (39th Round, Detroit Tigers) and Ken Beck (48th Round, Montreal Expos). It was the most players chosen in the draft for the Terps in over 12 years.

Matt Swope

• McCurdy was named to the National Collegiate Baseball Writers Association (NCBWA), Baseball America and the American Baseball Coaches Association (ABCA) All-America teams after putting together one of the finest individual campaigns in Terp history.

• Catcher/infielder Jason Maxey and outfielder Will Frazier were named honorable mention freshmen All-Americans by Collegiate Baseball in 2002.

• Senior Ken Beck was named to the Verizon Academic All-District First Team.

• In the offseason, Coach Terry Rupp served as an assistant coach with Team USA Baseball. Rupp toured with the squad on their summer Red, White and Blue Taur, before helping the Stars & Stripes capture the Honkbal Classic Championship in The Netherlands and the silver medal at the FISU World University Baseball Championship.

University of MARYLAND

"Strive for clarity, but accept and understand ambiguity."

That phrase captures one way in which an educated person approaches the world and its challenges. Students who graduate from the University of Maryland have been exposed to the tools that allow them to put that perspective to work. Imparting such a perspective may be an ambitious project for undergraduate education, but to aim for anything less would be unworthy of a great university's goals for its students. Fourteen years ago, Promises to Keep, a plan for undergraduate education at Maryland, articulated those goals so eloquently we repeat them here.

Undergraduate education at Maryland "aims to provide students with a sense of identity and purpose, a concern for others, a sense of responsibility for the quality of life around them, a continuing eagerness for knowledge and understanding, and a foundation for a lifetime of personal enrichment."

As we learn with and from one another, we try to "develop human values," "celebrate tolerance and fairness," "contribute to the social conscience," "monitor and assess private and collective assumptions," and "recognize the glory, tragedy and humor of the human condition." Your years at the University of Maryland can provide you with all the tools you need to accomplish these goals. Students here are "educated to be able to read with perception and pleasure, write and speak with clarity and verve, handle numbers and computation proficiently, reason mathematically, generate clear questions and find probable arguments, reach substantiated conclusions, and accept ambiguity."

And we also hope you enjoy the journey.

About the University

The Campus

By virtually every measure of quality, the University of Maryland has gained national recognition as one of the fastest rising comprehensive research institutions in the country. The momentum of recent years has poised the university to move it into the top ranks of higher education and take leadership in shaping the research university of the 21st century.

The university has enjoyed a decade of momentum in all of the areas that affect quality, beginning with the quality of our students. For more than 10 years, every freshman class has been the most talented in the university's history, including this year's. Not only are their grade-point averages and SAT scores stellar, about half of them finished in the top 10 percent of their high school graduating class.

But Maryland students excel in more ways than just the classroom. They are leaders in the arts and culture, community service, civic engagement and athletics.

What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation.

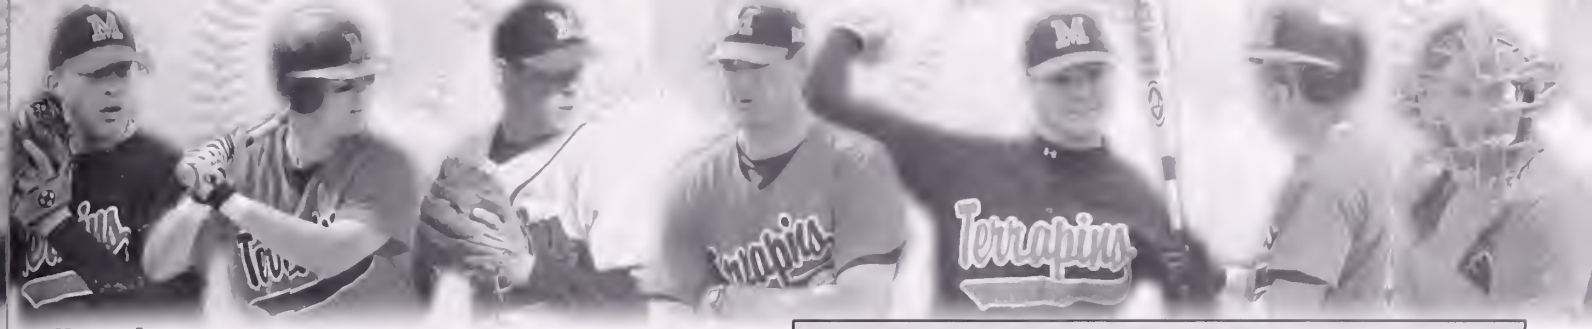
The university has 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the Top 25 by U.S. News and World Report, up from just one program in 1991.

Sponsored research and outreach has nearly tripled in the same 10-year period, reaching $308.5 million for FY 01. Private giving has increased even more dramatically, from $17 million to $77 million in FY01. Alumni Association membership has been growing at an average rate of 10 percent a year since 1992.

One of the largest research universities in the United States, current enrollment stands at 25,099 undergraduate and 9,061 graduate. There are 94 undergraduate programs, 89 master's programs, 70 doctoral programs, and one first professional degree program. More than 100 centers and institutes are engaged in research and outreach.

Faculty at the University of Maryland, in all fields of knowledge, are engaged at the highest levels of national and international concern. The university's location near the center of federal policy-making and international political and economic activity enables it to play an active role in research and analysis of public policy.

Maryland is one of 30 public universities in the prestigious 63-member Association of American Universities and the only public institution in the Maryland-D.C. area with membership in the nation's most distinguished honor society, Phi Beta Kappa.



Libraries

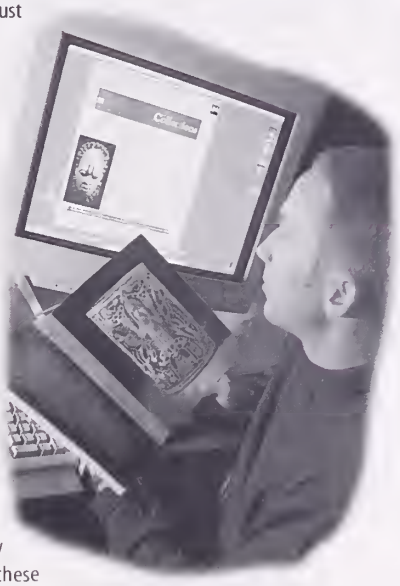
Seven libraries make up the University of Maryland library system: McKeldin (main) Library, Architecture Library, Art Library, Engineering and Physical Sciences Library, Hornbake Library, Performing Arts Library, White Memorial (Chemistry) Library.

These libraries constitute the largest university research library institution in the Washington metropolitan area, providing vital resources to researchers, visiting scholars, and businesses throughout the region. The libraries' holdings include more than 2.5 million volumes, 24,000 subscriptions to periodicals and nearly 5 million items available in microfilm format.

Research

Opportunities for conducting research abound at the University of Maryland, College Park, and in the surrounding area, both for faculty to advance their own expertise and bring their insights into the classroom, and for students to begin their exploration of their special interests with practical experience. On campus, special facilities and a number of organized research centers, bureaus, and institutes promote the acquisition and analysis of new knowledge in the arts, sciences and applied fields.

The university's enviable location — just nine miles from downtown Washington, D.C., and approximately 30 miles from both Baltimore and Annapolis — enhances the research of its faculty and students by providing access to some of the finest libraries and research centers in the country.



Service

Programs of public service are central to the overall mission of the university. The philosophy is reflected in the wide array of programs and initiatives that benefit the state's business, agriculture and education communities.

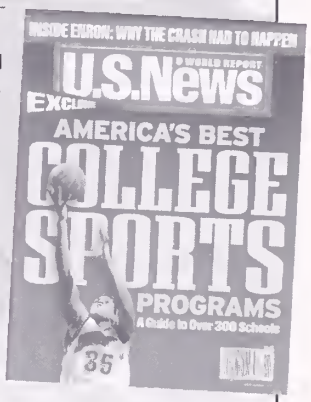
With more than 90 high technology firms in the three-county area of Montgomery, Prince George's and Frederick counties, the university has found abundant opportunity to extend its business and technology outreach programs to the region. Many of these programs are part of the Engineering Research Center, which operates the Technology Advancement Program and the Maryland Industrial Partnerships, programs designed to provide Maryland entrepreneurs and small businesses with research facilities, technical assistance, administrative support, and access to technology that will advance their economic base.

The Institute for Systems Research has formed partnerships with major corporations, including Lockheed Martin, Westinghouse, BF Goodrich, Hughes Aircraft and Dupont to apply advanced systems research to solving industry problems in the fields of communications, manufacturing, controls and robotics.

The university last year opened the Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center, with its six state-of-the art performance halls, which has quickly become a center of cultural programming in the Washington metropolitan area. The university also boasts four art galleries and a broad range of public art throughout the beautiful campus. Additionally intercollegiate, club and intramural sports provide students of all levels an opportunity to participate as spectators or athletes.

Did You Know?

- In 1991, Maryland had one program listed among Top 25 entrants in the U.S. News & World Report Rankings. Maryland now has 65 programs ranked among the nation's elite.
- A report card published in Technology Review rated the top U.S. universities in their quest for intellectual property, commercial partners and profits. Johns Hopkins University and the University of Maryland (28th) were the Mid-Atlantic (Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, District of Columbia) schools to make the "campus patenting" top 50 list.
- Black Issues In Higher Education ranked the university 12th in graduating black males with baccalaureate degrees in all disciplines. (Maryland is second among non-historically black schools.) Maryland is 23rd in black male undergraduate enrollment figures among all schools.
- The Wall Street Journal ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 13 among the world's business schools. Maryland is the top-ranked school in the Mid-Atlantic region (Delaware, Maryland, District of Columbia, Virginia). The Financial Times of London ranked the Robert H. Smith School of Business No. 4 in information technology, No. 6 in faculty research and No. 7 in entrepreneurship.
- In the only undergraduate program rankings released by U.S. News & World Report—business and engineering—both the Robert H. Smith School of Business (No. 21) and A. James Clark School of Engineering (No. 22) were ranked among the top 25. In business, the management information systems specialty was No. 7; entrepreneurship No. 12; general management specialty No. 21; e-commerce No. 8; human resources specialty No. 10. In engineering, the aerospace/aeronautical/astronautical specialty was No. 11.



- An economic impact study conducted by the economists with the Jacob France Center, an applied economics analysis center at the University of Baltimore, concluded that the University of Maryland generates $5.93 of economic activity for every dollar appropriated by the General Assembly, for a total statewide effect of nearly $1.8 billion.
- Maryland appointed William Phillips, a Nobel laureate in physics, to its faculty during the spring. Phillips will establish a world-class atomic, molecular and optical physics group on campus. The Philip Merrill College of Journalism now has five Pulitzer Prize winners on its faculty. A sixth faculty member, Eugene Roberts, directed the Philadelphia Inquirer to multiple Pulitzers as managing editor.

More, Better Students Go To Maryland

The University of Maryland has boasted its best freshman class ever for each of the last 10 years, and the entering freshmen for 2002 are no exception. The academic credentials — high school grades and SAT scores —are again the best ever. And more of those accepted by Maryland are now choosing to enroll here.

This year, half of our freshmen finished high school in the top 10 percent of their class. And the average new freshman has taken at least 11 honors or advanced classes in high school. What's more, the student body is a model of diversity, with minorities making up more than 32 percent of all students, and at least one graduate and undergraduate student from every state in the nation. What is more remarkable this year is how the university's successes in establishing quality programs – academic and athletic – and cementing a major role in the community, have attracted more of the best students than ever.

In its survey of the colleges of choice of top graduates in Maryland high schools last year, the Washington Post found that more than half picked the University of Maryland. No other single school was even close.

C.D. Mote Jr.

University President

Fifth Year at Maryland

California '51

When C.D."Dan" Mote Jr. became the 19th president of the University of Maryland on Sept. 1, 1998 he proclaimed it a university "on the move." Four years later, under his guidance, Maryland continues to move – at an ever accelerating rate – on the field, in the classroom, in the community, and in the world.

The University of Maryland is the state of Maryland's most important asset, says Mote:"The future of the state depends on this university."

Fulfilling that responsibility is a big job, but it's a role that Mote is accustomed to, having spent his entire academic career at the University of California at Berkeley, where he earned all his degrees, taught engineering and eventually became vice chancellor for University Relations before coming to Maryland.

One of Mote's first tasks here was to serve on a governor's task force to examine the funding and organization of the University System of Maryland. The task force recommended, and the General Assembly enacted into law, a reaffirmation of the university's flagship status and a commitment to funding at levels comparable to the best public universities in the nation.

As president, Mote is committed to making that asset even greater by creating a culture of excellence and civility across the campus, continuing to emphasize the highest quality education for students, strengthening the university's internal and external connections, and achieving distinction as an institution where discovery takes place every day and everywhere.

The university's progress in each of these areas can be measured by the quality of its programs; the stature of its faculty; the talent of its students; partnerships with business; impact on the state's economy; its ability to apply discoveries to global, national and regional problems; and its world-class, state-of-the-art facilities.

Quality Programs

Over the past decade, Maryland's programs have been improving by leaps and bounds. We currently have 65 graduate and undergraduate programs ranked in the top 25 nationally by U.S. News & World Report, compared with just one program a decade ago.

While the university's academic successes are across the board, it has emerged as a true powerhouse in business, computer science, earth sciences, engineering, education and journalism. The Robert H. Smith School of Business has achieved top 10 rankings from such beacon publications as the Financial Times of London and the Wall Street Journal. Every department in the College of Education has programs ranked in the U.S. News top 25, and the Counseling and Personnel Services Program has long been ranked tops in the nation.

Faculty Stature

With the addition during Mote's third year of a Nobel Laureate in Physics and three more Pulitzer Prize winners (to join three already on the faculty), Maryland continues to attract the best faculty available. More than 30 faculty are members of the national academies in their fields, the highest professional recognition attainable.

Experts on the Maryland faculty are regularly sought by the news media for their views on a wide variety of issues, including politics, international affairs, social trends, economics, the environment, science and technology.

Talented Students

Over the past 10 years, it has become a virtual cliché to announce that each year's new freshman class is the most talented ever. The average GPA of entering students in fall 2002 is expected to exceed 3.90, while the average SAT score is nearly 1300.

Not surprisingly, the number of students enrolling in honors and other special programs has also skyrocketed in recent years. As many as 40 percent of all new freshmen are now enrolled in such programs as Honors, Gemstone, College Park Scholars and other living-learning communities that bring together students with similar academic interests in a residential setting.

Business Partnerships

In order to fulfill its role as the state's most important asset, Mote has emphasized that the university must be engaged with the business and government communities in substantial and meaningful ways. Under his leadership, Maryland has provided its technological expertise to help the state improve its business processes through a Web portal and has consulted with hundreds of Maryland businesses through its Technology Extension Program.

Mote was presented with the 2002 NCAA trophy after the men's basketball title game.

In recent years, the university also helped to attract Fujitsu Laboratories of America to open a research facility in College Park. Fujitsu, the third-largest communications company in the world, shares a building with the Joint Global Change Research Institute, a research partnership between the university and the Pacific Northwest National Laboratory.

Research with Impact

Sponsored research funding has more than doubled at the University of Maryland since 1990, adding significantly to the university's value as both an economic and an intellectual resource. In FY 2001, the university received $250 million in research grants, much of it directed at projects that will directly improve our social, educational and economic well-being.

Recent highlights of research funding include more than $10 million from the National Science Foundation to study a wide range of issues related to information technology, from hardware to sociological impacts of the Internet. NSF also funded two major teaching initiatives in the College of Education totaling more than $20 million and taking the university's expertise directly into Maryland schools to improve math and science instruction. Mote himself chaired an NSF-sponsored task force last year to study the feasibility of voting over the Internet.

World-Class Facilities

During Mote's second year in office, the university began the largest building boom in its history, with more than $100 million in new projects breaking ground that year. New facilities address every aspect of university life, from the arts to recreation to classrooms and laboratories, and, in creative partnership with the private sector, new residential facilities.

Highlights of the construction activity on the campus include the stunning Clarice Smith Performing Arts Center; Comcast Center, which opened in fall 2002; new classrooms for chemistry, computer science, business and engineering; extensive renovations to the Adele Stamp Student Union; and new parking structures.

Athletic Excellence

Mote sees athletics as an integral part of the university experience, not just a showcase to impress visitors and friends. Indeed athletic success more often than not reflects academic success, he notes. For example, all four of the teams that played in last season's NCAA basketball Final Four, including Maryland, are members of the prestigious Association of American Universities, the organization that comprises the leading research and academic universities in North America.

Deborah A. Yow

Athletics Director

Ninth Year at Maryland

Elon '74

Deborah A. Yow is in the ninth year of her outstanding tenure as director of athletics at the University of Maryland, a year that has seen unprecedented success and achievement in Maryland athletics. Each year has brought about continued improvement and accomplishment in Terrapin athletics. In Yow's eight years at Maryland, the Terrapins have won a remarkable nine NCAA national championships as Maryland athletics has soared to new heights.

The comprehensive success of Terrapin athletics under Debbie Yow's leadership is a clear and compelling testimony of her values of excellence, teamwork and accountability.

Likewise, her election to the presidency of the National Association of Collegiate Directors of Athletics two years ago is an indication of the wide respect with which she is regarded among its 6,100 members representing 1,600 colleges in the U.S. and Canada. She was recently singled out by Street and Smith Sports Business Journal as one of the leading administrators in the U.S. and she received the Carl Maddox Sport Management Award presented by the United States Sports Academy for excellence in athletics administration.

Yow, who recently served on the NCAA Management Council and the NCAA Division I Budget Committee, is a strong and steady voice on behalf of intercollegiate athletics in America. Since taking over as AD at Maryland in 1994, she and her staff have:

- Transformed Terrapin athletics into a responsive, goal-oriented organization.
- Balanced all eight of the annual department's budgets (the first balanced budgets in the 10 years prior to her arrival). The budget has now reached $40 million annually and the sizable prior operating debts have been eradicated.
- Greatly enhanced the academic support services provided for student-athletes, with an enviable exhausted eligibility graduation rate of approximately 85 percent.
- Led the Terrapins to a national all-sports ranking in the upper 15 percent of all NCAA Division I institutions.
- Significantly expanded marketing and fund-raising efforts on behalf of Terrapin athletics. As a result, private gifts to athletics have increased 240 percent and corporate sponsorship revenues have increased by 275 percent during her tenure at Maryland.
- Continued to dramatically improve venues and facilities for the department's 25 teams.
- Implemented a strategic management model.
- Developed a comprehensive Internet strategy with management, marketing and fund-raising applications.
- Significantly improved customer care in every area.

The most recent achievements of Marylond othletics are exceptional:

- Selected in 2002 by U.S. News & World Report as one of the Top 20 athletic programs in the nation (for overall quality and competitive excellence).
- In men's basketball, won the ACC regular season in 2002, as well as the NCAA national championship. In football, won the Atlantic Coast Conference championship and played in the 2002 Orange Bowl. The Terps are among only a few NCAA institutions to have achieved at this distinguished level in these sports in the same year.
- Hired the Associated Press National Coach of the Year, Brenda Frese, as the new women's basketball coach.
- Hired Dave Cottle, the third winningest active men's lacrosse coach in the U.S.
- Field hockey played for the national championship in 2001.
- Women's lacrosse has continued its winning ways and won seven consecutive national championships through 2001.
- Enhancing football facilities significantly with Team House and practice field upgrades.
- Moved into the new $125 million Comcast Center.
- The athletics budget was balanced for the eighth consecutive year.

- In 2001-02 10 Maryland teams competed in NCAA postseason play.
- The productivity, morale, and the competitive and academic achievement of Terrapin athletics are exceptional and continue to gain momentum.

Regarding the many achievements of Terrapin athletics over the past eight years, Yow says, "We are pleased, but we are not satisfied . . . our vision is to be one of the top 10 programs in the nation consistently . . . we see no reason to settle for less."

Yow is known for her goal-oriented and proactive management style. She consistently inspires and challenges those around her to "raise our sights and sharpen our tools . . . to work hard and work smart . . . to recognize that our only limitations are those that we place upon ourselves."

As a manager and a leader, she clearly models these principles. She is the only known current AD in NCAA Division I who has hired both the National Coach of the Year in football (while at Maryland) and the National Coach of the Year in men's basketball (while at Saint Louis University). Yow is known as "a coach's AD," while also being a highly organized, strategic and proactive leader and administrator. Quite simply, Debbie Yow personifies the relational and management dynamics that are necessary to be an excellent administrator.

A successful former coach at the University of Kentucky and at the University of Florida, she moved into athletics administration at the University of Florida and the University of North Carolina, Greensboro, followed by a highly successful tenure as AD at Saint Louis University.

She has authored numerous articles and books on athletics management and human behavior, and is a respected leader in intercollegiate athletics in the United States.

Summing up the entire athletics program, Dr. Yow recently observed, "We have the finest student-athletes, coaches, support staff and administrative team in America. It is because of their courage, hard work and cooperative spirit that we now have a strong, viable athletic program. I am immensely proud of each of them. I am equally proud of our Terrapin fans who buy tickets, our Terrapin Club members who faithfully support the Maryland athletic program with their donations for scholarships, and the Maryland Educational Foundation and M Club members who serve and give liberally. We have a great Terrapin family. That's the foundation for all of our success . . . and the basis for our bright future."

Baseball Supervisor

Kathleen Worthington

Executive Senior Associate Athletics Director

Kathleen Worthington was named associate athletics director for internal operations in May 1999, and promoted to executive senior associate athletics director in September 2002. She came to Maryland from Morehead State University, where she had served as associate athletics director since February 1998 after spending two years as an assistant athletics director.

At Maryland, Worthington is responsible for supervision of the department's internal operations including sports medicine, academic support, facilities and operations, personnel and compliance.

During her time at Morehead State, her primary focus was business operations, policy development, and strategic planning. Prior to Morehead State, Worthington spent two years as the assistant to the AD at the University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

She earned her bachelor's degree in mass communications from the College of Notre Dame in Maryland in 1985. She earned a master's degree in public relations from Syracuse and a master's in athletics administration from Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

She was inducted into College of Notre Dame's Athletic Hall of Fame in 1997 and in 1999 was named an NCAA Leadership Fellow. In 1996, she earned the graduate student achievement award from University of Wisconsin-LaCrosse.

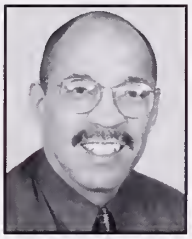
Academic Support & Career Development

The University of Maryland is committed to providing the highest quality education to all of its students. The Department of Intercollegiate Athletics strives to provide student-athletes excellent opportunities to participate in an intercollegiate athletics program of the highest quality, with the result that their athletics participation becomes an integral and valued component of their total educational experience at the university.

Terrapin student-athletes will find that the same hard work and discipline that has earned them success in athletics competition is also required in the classroom. Balancing the significant time demands and responsibilities required to be a successful student-athlete at the highest collegiate level is no small task. Therefore, as a result of their commitment to representing the university through athletics, Terrapin student-athletes are able to utilize support programs designed to meet their specific needs.



Don Pearman

Led by associate athletics director Robert Koonce, the mission of the Academic Support and Career Development Unit (ASCDU) is to provide quality developmental programs and need-based services that will enhance academic progress, facilitate career development, and encourage the psychosocial growth of all UM student-athletes.

Don Pearman serves as the Academic Support Director for the baseball team at Maryland.

The Gossett Academic Support and Career Development Center for Terrapin student-athletes, named for long-time Terp supporters Barry and Mary Gossett, is located in the Comcast Center. It features a study center that includes 25 desktop computers, a tutoring center, a classroom, a CHAMPS/Life Skills resource room and individual offices for seven professional academic counselors, an assistant program coordinator and two graduate assistants. In addition, the center's extended site is located in the Gossett Football Team House, and includes office space for two professional counselors, a program assistant and a 23-station desktop computer center.

Student-Athlete Advisory Committee

The Student-Athlete Advisory Committtee (S.A.A.C.) plays an important role in the Department of Intercollegiate Athletics. It consists of two representatives from each varsity sport and meets on a regular basis with representatives from the athletic administration. The S.A.A.C. mission is to enhance the total student-athlete experience by developing leadership skills, promoting student-athlete welfare and fostering a positive student-athlete image on the Maryland campus, local area and nationally.

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs

ASCDU houses the NCAA's Challenging Athletes' Minds for Personal Success Program (C.H.A.M.P.S.) and the NCAA Life Skills Program. The ASCDU staff, in collaboration with various other Department of Intercollegiate Athletics' units and campus resources, strives to provide a systematic personal development program designed to reach each student-athlete based on his or her individual needs. The focus of the program is on the individual academically, athletically and emotionally, and on the changing needs and skills of that individual in the years during college and after graduation. The menu of presentations, workshops and seminars is a comprehensive and balanced system of "life learning" programs promoted for use by each varsity sport team.

Highlights of the CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs:

- Support efforts of every student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation
- Use athletics as preparation for success in life
- Meet the changing needs of student-athletes
- Promote respect for diversity among student-athletes
- Enhance interpersonal relationships in the lives of student-athletes
- Assist student-athletes in building positive self-esteem
- Enable student-athletes to make meaningful contributions to their communities
- Promote ownership by the student-athletes of their academic, athletic, personal and social responsibilities
- Enhance partnerships between the NCAA, member institutions and their communities for the purpose of education
- Encourage the development of leadership skills

CHAMPS/Life Skills Programs Statements

Commitment to Academic Excellence

To support the academic progress of the student-athlete toward intellectual development and graduation. At Maryland, ASCDU offers a variety of programs and services including: prospective student-athlete orientation, academic counseling, NCAA academic eligibility monitoring, academic enrichment and career development presentations and workshops, accredited tutorial support, individualized learning program, in addition to the following academic courses: EDCP 108-K (college learning strategies and skills), EDCP 108-M (math learning strategies and skills), and UNIV 100/101 (first-year transitions to the university).

Commitment to Athletic Excellence

To build philosophical foundations for the development of athletic programs that are broad-based, equitable and dedicated to the well-being of the student-athlete. ASCDU hosts the spirit games that bring together student-athletes from various teams to support fellow student-athletes at home events.

Commitment to Personal Development

To support the development of a well-balanced lifestyle for student-athletes, encouraging the emotional well-being, personal growth and decision making skills. ASCDU sponsors workshops and seminars that address issues pertinent to the student-athlete, including the HERO Campaign.

Strength & Conditioning

Collegiate baseball has evolved to the point where total physical preparation is necessary to successfully compete on the Division I level. It has become extremely important to strength and conditioning coach Corliss White that all of the Terrapin athletes are prepared through training to maximize their athletic development in terms of strength and conditioning. The high level of dedication by the members of the baseball team has brought about spectacular achievements in the weight room and in competition.

Corliss White

The objective of the strength and conditioning program for baseball is based on the enhancement of performance as well as the prevention of injuries. White makes every attempt to accommodate the different training needs of each individual athlete.

The preparation of a student-athlete to compete in baseball goes beyond strength and power training in the weight room. Speed improvement, flexibility, plyometrics, nutrition, agility and conditioning are also important ingredients in the preparation of the baseball team here at Maryland. The strength and conditioning staff puts a great emphasis on improving the quickness of the Terps through increased mechanical efficiency and the improvement of acceleration of maximum velocity.

Media Guidelines

Credentials: Media and photographer credentials for events at Maryland's Shipley Field may be obtained by working press, radio and television by writing or calling Justin Fenton in the Maryland Athletic Media Relations Office, 2725 Comcast Center, College Park, MD 20741-0295. All requests should be submitted at least 48 hours prior to the event by phoning the Media Relations Office at (301) 314-7068. Since space is limited, accommodations are on a priority basis: daily newspapers and wire services, originating radio and television stations, national weekly or monthly publications, electronic media outlets, local and regional television crews. Priority is granted to members of the media who cover Maryland athletics on a regular basis, and to visiting media members. Photo passes will be issued only to accredited photographers on assignment.

Services: The Media Relations Office will provide complete statistics at the conclusion of every home game. Programs containing rosters and event notes on each team will be provided for the working media.

Fax Machine: The Media Relations Office has one facsimile machine, located in Room 1112 of Cole Field House, which is available upon request. The fax number is (301) 314-9094.

Terps on the Web: For up-to-date game stories, statistics, schedules and results, and other Maryland athletic department information, please locate www.umterps.com on the Internet.
